

What's the big idea

Ways of the Tribe

-  Short Activity
-  Long Activity
-  Potential Adventure Skills step
-  Potential Special Interest badge step

Help with the Tidy towns

Give another Beaver a hand with a badge

Keep a Good Deed Diary

Help out at home

Make a bird feeder

Tidy the Den

Helping Others

Grow some plants give them to a town group

Let others help you

What's the big idea

The big idea with this adventure is service to others in all sorts of ways. The Beaver Scouts might suggest projects at home and abroad. Ideally, the home projects will be best as they can involve the Beaver Scouts in real action projects. The abroad projects, perhaps collecting for a charity are equally important. The Beaver Scouts should explore a number of areas and in its basic form it should be centred around 'Doing a Good Deed' every day. Lodges can also work together on bigger jobs.

Tribal life is all about sharing - 'one for all and all for one' - helping others is something that should be natural in your lifestyle. The concept of the 'Meitheal' at harvest and sowing time when everybody came together to help each other in turn - many hands make light work'

Helping Others

Ideas on what to do

Plan

Ask the Beaver Scouts about what are the things that they do to help others. Follow that with how they could help people at home.

Do

They should try to help each person in their household once in a day for a few days. Before they try to help they should first ask the person how they can help them and then keep a log of all the people they helped and what they did

Review

At the next Log Chew have a look at the logs in their memory bags that the Beavers Scouts kept and compare what they did with others to see what they did in common.

Comments

Why not try letting other people help you with something to show you can let people help you.

Resources

A note book to use as a helping others log book.