The Scout Group Constitution

CONSTITUTION of Xxth xxxxxx (xxxxxx) Scout Group
Scouting Ireland
(Revised 30 August 2018)

Executive Summary

Scouting in Ireland is a voluntary, uniformed, non-formal educational movement for young people. It is independent, non-political, open to all without distinction of origin, race, creed, gender, sexual orientation, or ability, in accordance with the purpose, principles and method conceived by the Founder, Robert Baden-Powell as stated by the World Organisation of the Scout Movement. A Scout Group is the local and primary vehicle for Scouting in Ireland. It is a registered Charitable Organisation and is registered as a Scout Group with Scouting Ireland. All Scout Groups are supported by Scouting Ireland through a Charter which is renewed annually. All Scout Groups registered with a Charter are members of Scouting Ireland Services (hereinafter “Scouting Ireland”), a company limited by guarantee and itself a registered Charitable Organisation. They attend Scouting Ireland’s Annual General Meeting and elect its Board of Directors. This document is the constitution for the Scout Group. It provides for the aims and objectives of the Scout Group, how the Scout Group is organised and how it achieves its aims and objectives for the young people and adult supporters involved.

1. Name of the Scout Group
1.1. The name of the Scout Group is [number] [County] (name) Scout Group (“the Scout Group”).

2. Fundamentals - Aims and Objectives
2.1. The aim of the Scout Group is to encourage the physical, intellectual, character, emotional, social, and spiritual development of young people so that they may achieve their full potential and, as responsible citizens, to improve society.
2.2. The Scout Group achieves its aim through a system of progressive self-education, known as the Scout Method, the principal elements of which are:
   a. Promise and Law - the commitment to a code of living based on the values of the Scout movement;
   b. Personal Progression - a scheme to support the development of knowledge, skills and attitudes in all areas and to provide recognition for individual and group achievements;
   c. Learning by Doing - an approach that prioritises learning through practice, first-hand experience, and from both successes and mistakes;
   d. Small Group System – progressive, democratic and self-governing groups, usually of 6-8 young people, are the basic organisational structure of Scouting;
3. The Scout Principles

The principles of the Scout Group are enshrined in the Scout Promise and the Scout Law and they include:

a. Adherence to spiritual principles, loyalty to the faith that expresses them and acceptance of the duties resulting therefrom.

b. Loyalty to one’s community in harmony with the promotion of peace, understanding and cooperation.

c. Responsibility for the development of one’s self.

d. Participation in the development of society with recognition and respect for the dignity of one’s fellow beings and for the integrity of the natural world.

e. Use of a method of progressive self-education, known as the Scout Method, comprising programmes adapted to the various age groups.

4. The Scout Promise

On my honour I promise that I will do my best, to do my duty to God, to serve my community, to help other people and to live by the Scout Law.
